

Master Gardeners and NCEMGVA

The North Carolina Master Gardener SM Program was founded in 1979 to assist NC Cooperative Extension in communicating research based information on gardening practices to the public. Extension Master Gardeners volunteer their time to provide consumer horticulture information to the citizens of North Carolina. Activities include the development of demonstration and educational gardens, providing horticultural therapy at assisted living facilities, and managing youth horticulture programs. Master Gardeners also promote programs for sustainable agriculture and horticulture, water conservation and reuse, the reduction of storm-water runoff, responsible fertilizer and pesticide use, and the use of native plants. During 2017 over 4,000 Carolina Master Gardener volunteers donated more than 200,000 hours to these activities.

The North Carolina Master Gardener SM Volunteer Association (NCEMGVA) was established in 1991 to aid in improving the effectiveness of NC Master Gardeners. The statewide association is made up of delegates from county associations and supports educational and training opportunities such as statewide conferences and through grants to county and multi-county programs, as well as annual awards programs.

Greenville Convention Center
303 Greenville Blvd
Greenville, NC

Welcome to the 2018 North Carolina Master Gardeners Conference hosted by NCEMGVA, assisted by Master Gardeners from Nash and Pitt counties and other areas of the state and members of the Cooperative Extension Service

NC STATE EXTENSION

Master Gardener | Volunteer Association

2018 NCEMGVA Conference
June 7th-8th-9th

GARDENING
A Prescription for Healthy Living

Friday's Featured Speakers:
Annie Martin, Mossin' Annie, author of "The Magical World of Moss Gardening"
Rev. Richard Joyner "The Reluctant Farmer"

Greenville Convention Center
303 Greenville Blvd SW
Greenville, North Carolina

Need More Info?
www.NCEMGVA.org
NC STATE EXTENSION
Master Gardener | Volunteer Association

Information for Donors, Vendors, and Advertisers